How did you come up with your online name?

I came up with mine when i first started going on forums. It was really random really.

Feel free to post how you thought of your username.

usually i take something from the game itself (like in CS i use the name popdog which is an advertisement in many maps). also i use s0tt0 in many places (actually its a shortage from sottobosco - a mountain in italy) it just sounds very good :)

in this forum i have used my first names' start letter "t" and my family name "salo"
